

Hi Georgia,

Thank you for sending across the latest correspondence.

Waitrose remain committed to looking into providing an additional footpath to the existing pedestrian access on site. Our appointed architect was able to visit the site this week and is producing plans next week for our construction team to accurately cost. As I previously explained this was delayed by almost 3 months due to the Covid-19 epidemic.

Initial feedback from our architect is that as installing a slope on the right hand side of the current road entrance/exit will be steep and that steps may be a preferred option. We will continue to look into both however as DDA access is already provided at the site it may be that steps are installed as opposed to a slope.

I would like to remind the council that there is a safe access route into the site that pedestrians choose not to use at present time.
